ONE VOTE WILL DETERMINE TAX LEGISLATION OF '23

LIKE A CAT WITH NINE LIVES THE REVENUE BILL GETS BACK. TRY TO SAVE IT

Young Bob to the Rescue With Amendments After All Else Failed.

Madison.—Tax bills that find their way to the senate show all the characteristics attributed to a cat with nine lives, upper house members were exclaiming Friday, upon finding the Doherty general income tax bill still before them and much alive, despite Thursday's killing of the proposal.

Six general income tax bills, in addition to innumerable amendments have been killed by the senate one after the other, yet the sixth of these proposals once again is back in full force. Upon this measure the LaFollette progressive movement still basing their hope for final success in fulfilling their platform pledge for tax revision.

To save the bill

The next move in the legislative attack on what many members are beginning to think almost unkillable revenue bills, remains to be determined upon a 12-hour visit, which was made Friday by Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., who has been directing the tax fight for progressives, that amendments would be offered to the Doherty bill in an effort to keep it alive through its next test on June 27.

He said that the progressives were confident that they could satisfy

KANSAS CITY GREETED PARTY OF PRESIDENT

Madison.—President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding, and members of the party enroute to the Pacific coast and Alaska, arrived in Kansas City at 10 o'clock Friday night, where they will conclude with an address by the president Friday night on the transportation problem.

The trip from St. Louis, where the chief executive made his first prepared address Thursday night, speaking on the world court, was made without incident. No stops were made and the trip was made in a leisurely manner, the train loading along through the Missouri wheat and corn fields and along the Missouri river.

The president slept last night as usual, as it was after 1 a. m. before he completed the strenuous program arranged for him in St. Louis.

The principal address in Kansas will be delivered by Mr. Harding Saturday afternoon at Hutchinson.

New York.—The consolidated stock exchange Friday expelled P. G. Stamm of P. G. Stamm and company.

PERSPIRATION DRIPS IN WISCONSIN; WATER FREEZES ON DESERT

Chicago.—Approximately three states experienced unseasonable cold Thursday with the rest of the United States sweltered.

Some relief is in sight for many sections, but in others there will be no break in the heat wave, forecasters say.

Scores of deaths and numerous prostrations have been caused by the heat. High temperature records were made in many cities.

The most notable contrast was furnished by New Mexico, where a severe frost made it necessary to break ice in watering troughs in some sections; the mercury dropping to 28 degrees below zero on the Arizona desert.

Death minimum was 52 and generally cooler weather was experienced in North Dakota.

Citizens of Superior, Wis., were compelled hurriedly to don their winter clothing when the temperature dropped to 40 degrees above zero.

Fontaine Fox and his "Toonerville Trolley" series will make an appearance in the Gazette very soon.

The summer is here and with all its pleasures and outings time is short for reading. But if one wishes to get all the news high spots, all that is doing in the community, the only page giving results and gossip of all amateur sports in all Southern Wisconsin, the Saturday and Sunday Gazette will be found just what is wanted. Every day the Gazette covers these events. It is the unusual newspaper of the state. If you go away have the Gazette follow you. You won't need letters from home if you do. The features in the Gazette will make even a rainy day bright.

ESCAPED "LIFER" AT BAY IN UPPER MICHIGAN SWAMP

DEPUTY KILLED, TROOPER WOUNDED IN FIERCE MAN HUNT. FUGITIVE CRAZED

Well Armed, Convict Stands Off Hundreds of Men in Sheriff's Possession.

Escanaba, Mich.—One deputy has been shot dead, a state trooper has been wounded and George Natchoff, Marquette prisoner after he escaped a week ago, is still at large, defying the efforts of a posse of 200 strong to capture him.

Armed with a revolver and plentifully supplied with ammunition, Natchoff has been surrounded in a swampy area near here for several hours. Several attacks by members of the posse have been met by a well directed fire from the dense thickets in which Natchoff was concealed.

Crazed by Exposure

Deputy Sheriff Frank Curran was killed Wednesday by a bullet from Natchoff's revolver. Thursday Lieut. J. C. Gorman of the state police was shot through the abdomen, escaping death because a heavy belt buckle diverted the course of the bullet.

Authorities directing the man hunt believe Natchoff has become crazed by the heat and ravages of insects in the swamp. Blood splattered saplings, they say, indicate he has been wounded.

Plans have been laid for a general flanking movement late Friday. With every able bodied man in the vicinity taking part, the posse, several hundred strong, will close in on every side of the four mile swamp.

George Blochman, who escaped with Natchoff, was captured Wednesday.

Violence of Etna

Eruption Waning

Canterbury, Italy.—For the first time since Mount Etna became violent, a ray of hope dawned Friday morning for the much tried inhabitants of the volcanic region.

The danger is not yet ended, for the crater of the mountain is still belching molten streams of lava and great rocks which threaten the complete destruction of nearby communities, but the violence of the eruption is decreasing.

A relatively small number of fresh craters about 30 in number—opened during the night, indicating that the pressure within the mountain is less.

Volcanologists say it is impossible to prophesy how long Etna will continue active, but they expect a return to more normal conditions within a short time.

Although the loss in property has been enormous the present eruption of Sicily's great mountain of Mount Etna has been the least of its troubles. Even physical injuries have been extremely rare.

Berengaria and Baltic Are Stated for Test Action by Two Nations.

New York.—While treasury department officials Friday were concentrating their attention on the liner Berengaria, the Baltic slipped into quarantine with 6,182 bottles of liquor under British government seal for her next east bound voyage, in defiance of American dry regulations.

On announcement that the Cunard-Berengaria was coming Friday with sealed liquor, to test the ruling that no liquor except for medicinal purposes must be carried across the three mile limit. Secretary Mellon has ordered his agents to board the Britisher and seize her wet goods.

The Baltic reached quarantine while the Berengaria was approaching Sandy Hook.

The Baltic reached her pier shortly after 11 a. m. and Captain Roberts prepared to sign her manifest, after which he planned to visit the customs house.

It was learned that, while the customs officials intended to seize the liquor, they did not plan to act until after Captain Roberts had applied to the public health service for a permit to enter with liquor for medicinal purposes.

This program also will be followed with the incoming Berengaria.

The Berengaria's manifest showed she had under seal, in addition to her medicinal liquor supply, 110 1.5 gallon bottles of 1.5 gallon bottles of wine and 3,888 bottles of ale and porter.

Assemblyman Johnson declared his motion was caused by assurance that another attempt to have a senate inquiry into a broad list of activities on the part of legislators and department heads, was to be made next week.

The senate investigation will be proposed by Senator Severson, on the basis of information furnished by the local law enforcement committee of 130. It is expected to outline specific cases.

BEE BUZZING IN CAR CAUSES WRECK

Janesville People Hurt Near Geneva When Child Takes Fright at Insect.

Frightened by the buzzing of a bumble bee, a child of Mrs. George Smith, Janesville, grabbed Mrs. Smith, driving to Janesville from Lake Geneva, resulting in her losing control of the car and striking a culvert.

Injured besides Miss Marsden, Mrs. George Smith, Janesville, and two children, Mrs. Mildred Mason, Dixon, Ill., and Mrs. L. Bailey, Detroit, Miss Marsden, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Bailey were badly cut about the head and severely bruised. Mrs. Bailey and the two Smith children escaped with minor injuries. The accident, one of the most peculiar in Janesville history, occurred at Lake Geneva and Lake Como Thursday afternoon when the Marsden party was returning from Lake Geneva. A large bumble bee alighted on the car, frightening the child in the back seat, struck an arm of Miss Marsden, who was driving the car, and she lost control of the car.

The car was badly damaged.

Work for Humanity

Supt. Hooper told the workers for the blind that Wisconsin was glad to have them in the state because it needs their inspiration.

"People engaged in work for humanity can't help but be an inspiration," said Mr. Hooper. "We want you to come to Wisconsin to know it is as it is. During the war, you heard a great deal of false doctrine and false thought about Wisconsin. We are an old state, geographically. We jettied up before most of the world, then disappeared and came up the second time and stayed. Mr. Hooper told them of the record of Wisconsin in industry and agriculture. He said the state is old, but is not bound by tradition and willing to step out into new fields. He ended Wisconsin is delirious."

Workers Trained

Vice President Francis E. Palmer gave the response to the addresses of welcome. He declared that the A. A. B. is indebted to the state for some of its finest workers, among whom is the superintendent of the school for the blind. He said the delegation of the Rock County Medical Society, 100 men, women and children who ask only for an opportunity to sense the glory of work and achievement, and these sightless children of America may realize the purpose of the coming of the Master.

President Lattimer, in his foreword, closed the delegates' day of consideration for the host and hostess. He said the program was one of variety.

The officers of the association tendered the delegates to the meeting at the conclusion of the meeting.

Claims Ridgway Sought Two Jobs of the Governor

(By Associated Press)

Madison.—Governor Blaine, in a letter Friday to Senator Eldo T. Ridgway, denied he had ever sought to influence the vote of the senator on any legislation, and pointed out what he said were specific instances when the Elkhorn legislator had definitely sought appointment to the state board of control. The governor's letter was written in reply to charges by Senator Ridgway on the floor of the senate when he declared that an effort had been made to "buy" his vote on tax bills with offers of appointments. In his letter to the senator, Governor Blaine said that "you know, and I think in honor should have stated, that there never was any conversation between myself and the executive office, either with me personally or with any one attached to the office or with any one on my behalf or to my knowledge, concerning any legislation whatever, regarding taxation legislation with reference to either your candidacy for the position in the state board of control or to the vacancy in the office of county judge of Walworth county."

"The fact that you were not asked to buy your vote against the fulfillment of a pledge to which you are committed," the governor wrote.

"Neither can any pretended suggestion of a doorknocker or sales man about the candidacy concerning appointments, justify your statement or your vote against the taxation measures that had been overwhelmingly endorsed by the people of this state."

"I have discussed the taxation measures with you very frankly, and I have always insisted that the party pledges should be fulfilled and that you were committed to that pledge."

After quoting from Senator Ridgway's statement in which he is reported to have said that he had never made application for a position on the state board of control, Governor Blaine outlined instances in which he said the senator did seek the board of control.

"Sought Appointment"

"Permit me to call to your attention," the governor wrote, "that early in the year you called at the executive office, seeking a position on the state board of control, and that you repeatedly informed me to appoint you to such position, and let me assure you, senator, that I have never made application for a position on the state board of control, and that you voted for continuation."

"You not only informed me to make that appointment, but you paved your way for the interview you had with me by having Dr. Goff of your home in Madison, Wis., write me as follows: 'As Senator Ridgway informs me that he wishes a place on the state board of control, I would object to your recommending him to that position.' You will recall that I asked what support you could expect from the people throughout the state, but the only answer was the objection by the majority of your constituents. The single letter above mentioned."

"Again Submitted Plea"

"Then again, when another vacancy occurred, you again submitted your candidacy the second time, for the second vacancy, and Dr. Goff, on June 1, wrote me, 'Senator Ridgway informs me he is yet seeking a place on the state board of control, and upon his urgent solicitation I promised to write you again.'"

"Following out that desire of yours to be appointed to the second vacancy, evidently a systematic campaign was made on your behalf, by the majority of constituents I have received, in writing. Moreover, you sought the aid of men in the departments in the capital to promote your second candidacy."

"False Statements"

"Now, frankly, senator, none of this would be important and I would not deny your statement by reply, except for the fact that you, as a senator under the cloak of personal privilege, attempted to mislead the public by false statements and false innuendoes."

"You knew, when you formerly voted on the taxation measures in the state senate, that I intended to appoint Mr. Morrissey of Delafield as county judge of Walworth county, and you knew the reasons why. Mr. Morrissey was not your candidate."

"I write you that the record may be kept straight."

Reply Is Prompted

On receipt of Governor Blaine's letter, Senator Ridgway replied. "I have made no attempt to mislead the public in any way. I will have a complete answer to the governor's statements soon."

"At present, I cannot leave the senate to prepare a reply."

Farm Bureau Official Information

BROWN SWISS HERD IN COUNTY EXHIBIT

Breeders Pledge Co-Operation in Forming County Show Herd.

Rock county will be represented by a strong Brown Swiss herd on the Farm Bureau demonstration train. A year ago breeders pledged full co-operation to further the interests of this breed in sending on the fair circuit a collection of animals that will bid for high honors. A part of the herd was selected by J. C. Nisbet on Thursday and four more herds of the county are to be inspected early next week to fill all the classes.

A year ago Nisbet showed the herd of J. C. Schmidt, Green county, and this herd won national reputation, Vronicka's College Boy, discovered at the Monroe fair, being grand champion among males and Clannam's Brownie, the royal purple for females.

There is wonderful Brown Swiss cattle in the county and there will be strong competition—but judging from the type of animals inspected on two farms, Rock county will win a creditable lot of prizes," stated Nisbet.

The organization of the show herds is progressing rapidly for each day new candidates for livestock honors are being selected and breeders urged to start fitting.

A number of the dairy animals, it is planned, will be brought to the Janesville fair grounds early in July and be given proper fitting.

The herd organization will not be fully complete until after the Rock county fair at Evansville and the Janesville fair. It is expected that a number of the cattle will be exhibited at the Rock county fair.

One iron clad rule has been adopted to prevent the showing of the county's herds at any fair or exhibition where rules relating to testing for tuberculosis are not properly enforced.

A start will be made Monday or Tuesday in the selecting of the Guernsey herd, so that in the end the county will be represented by all breeds of cattle being developed in the county.

The organization of the show herds is progressing rapidly for each day new candidates for livestock honors are being selected and breeders urged to start fitting.

A number of the dairy animals, it is planned, will be brought to the Janesville fair grounds early in July and be given proper fitting.

The herd organization will not be fully complete until after the Rock county fair at Evansville and the Janesville fair. It is expected that a number of the cattle will be exhibited at the Rock county fair.

One iron clad rule has been adopted to prevent the showing of the county's herds at any fair or exhibition where rules relating to testing for tuberculosis are not properly enforced.

A start will be made Monday or Tuesday in the selecting of the Guernsey herd, so that in the end the county will be represented by all breeds of cattle being developed in the county.

for coffee

Carnation is universally used for creaming coffee —just as it comes from the container—for it is just the consistency of rich, country cream.
To serve for drinking, simply add one and a half to two parts water.

fruit

for breakfast has more than double its nutritive properties when an ample allowance of Carnation is poured over it. When you order your groceries today be sure to put Carnation on the list. It gives full-bodied richness and genuine food value to your

CARNATION COCOA
4 tsp. cocoa; 6 tsp. sugar; 1 cup boiling water; 1 cup Carnation Milk; 1/2 tsp. salt.
Mix cocoa and sugar in a cup. Boil water. Heat cornstarch by allowing hot water to stand in it for a few minutes. Heat Carnation Milk by standing up of Carnation Milk in bowl of hot water for five minutes or more. Pour a little boiling water into cup of cocoa and sugar to dissolve them. Pour into cocoa pot, add remainder of water, boiling hot, then the hot Carnation Milk and salt. Serve at once. Makes four cups.
There are many other recipes as good as this in the Carnation Cook Book. Send for it.

The Mayor of this City

has a thousand and one things depending on him—it's vitally important that he keep himself fit.

He ought to eat a big bowl of Mapl-Flake every morning for breakfast—for Mapl-Flake is full of the things that put both mind and body in trim for a big day's work.

Mapl-Flake is 25% Bran

Mapl-Flake is a whole wheat flake, with all the natural bran content of the wheat—enough to make it a harmless, natural laxative. Yet it's so appetizing and full of flavor you forget about "taking bran" as a healthful duty; you eat it in Mapl-Flake as a pleasure.

In addition to the bran, there's all the nourishment of the "staff of life"—vitally valuable salts of iron for making good red blood; phosphorus and lime for sturdy bones, and the indispensable vitamin elements that transform food into force and action. It makes a perfect breakfast.

It's good to eat, and good for you. Be a "Mapl-Flaker."

A National Convention.

It is not often that Janesville entertains a national convention. Owing to restrictions in hotel accommodations we are lucky to get a state convention to give us a few minutes' consideration. So we are all pleased to have the American Association of Workers for the Blind here for a few days. This is not a social affair but after one reads the program he is impressed with its seriousness and the wide field covered by the very name of the organization with its 300 delegates. A century or so ago we were not so concerned about the blind. We were satisfied to furnish a blind person, if his or her people were unable to care for one, a tin cup and a sign and let him ask alms. That is not so now. There are few fields of endeavor in which a blind person may not excel. There are hardly any vocations which a blind person may not enter. There are few ambitions which a blind person may not achieve, few heights to which a sightless man or woman may not climb. Senators, congressmen, authors, engineers, lawyers, physicians and all professions, workers in all industries, may come from the ranks of the blind. The war has taught us many things and among them how wonderful is the mind of man when one sense is taken away and others remain. Janesville is pleased that here, where we have one of the oldest schools for the training of the blind, in the United States, we may welcome a convention of so great distinction.

The cry for a moral bath at Madison is not so loud that it can be heard above the shuffle of the poker chips.

More Patches on the Dahl Trousers.

While it may be set down as true that the nation and state will not go entirely to the dogs if the Dahl tax bill is passed whether in the present form or as it will be amended before it goes to vote again, yet it is so notoriously a political bill and a crazy patch work that the original has been bailed completely and it will not be workable with any degree of success. It was defeated in the senate and resurrected. It would have been much more satisfactory if the measure had been permitted to have decent burial after its death but that too will only emphasize the deep and widening gulf between diverging wings of the socialist-progressive party in the legislature. Once more La Follette Jr., has been called into the breach. No one knows where or by what process this son arrived at a point where he was so great a tax expert that he could tell the state of Wisconsin through its legislature and governor what to do in tax matters, but it seems he has. Let it go at that. Whatever is done is the result of trading and patching. That is a bad method in legislation. Laws made on that process are usually half done, unworkable and never satisfactory to anybody.

The so-called progressive party has had a clear majority in both senate and assembly. It has failed to do anything since the more radical wing has insisted that nothing be done unless it was ultra-radical and therefore destructive. The great game here has been to get even with somebody—a "somebody" more or less chimerical but generally designated as "capitalism." That means at Madison any prosperous industry. Granting there are profiteers and dodgers in industry, the specific cases are few and the great state of ours has been built on mills and factories and industrial activities in wide fields where in small capital and thousands of people employed have been deeply and directly interested. These are given no concern and no consideration. So it has come about that seeing the vicious and destructive policy supported by the radical wing, the less radical progressive has refused to go the length. These men, who have served the people rather than a boss, have been able to save the state from wildcat tax legislation so far and it is to be hoped they will not swerve from the path at this time, no matter how many patches are put on the trousers incising the Dahl bill.

What will a Wall street broker be when all the brokers are broke?

Did Not Alsmithize Wisconsin.

As predicted, and running true to form, the state senate killed the Tucker bill which the wet La Follette Progressive assembly supported and passed. The 19 to 12 vote was definite enough to satisfy even the governor whose efforts to take the teeth out of his own enforcement bill have met with signal failure this session. Wisconsin refuses to be Alsmithized which is a great disappointment to the down east bootleggers. Wisconsin has been placed in the wet column by all writers who see hardly westward of the Hudson river. One reason for this prognostication of wetness and possibility of repealing the Severadon law has been the generally accredited position of Senator La Follette in the wet ranks. The legislature has now exhausted its repertoire of wet bills and may go home and explain to dry communities why support was given to open violation of the laws. Wisconsin is probably dry on a referendum vote squarely put before the people, un-complicated with any other deflecting issue and for that reason Assemblyman Matheson and others have attempted to have a referendum bill passed and let the people vote on the question.

HIGH RENTS AND AUTOS

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington.—Two important economic elements are at work in this country which are changing the character of American cities, according to studies made by government officials at Washington. They are high rents and the automobile.

The growth of cities in the United States has been one of the new wonders of the world. Today the people are city dwellers. Economists estimate that in spite of the back-to-the-farm movements and other such efforts, the concentration in cities will continue for some time to come. It is thought possible that 50 years from now, no more than 10 per cent of the people will be living on farms.

Constant improvements in labor saving devices for farming will make it possible for one-tenth of the people to raise enough food for the city dwellers and enable them to devote their energies to other work in the centers of population. The advance which has been made already in labor saving devices is enormous. The number of people necessary to raise the nation's food has been cut in half by such inventions as the reaper and binder, the threshing machine and the tractor.

The inevitable result of this combination of circumstances is that the cities get larger and larger. The result, in turn, of this municipal congestion is that rents go higher and higher. More people are clamoring for living space within the cities and this demand exceeding the supply, boosts rental values. This movement, although fundamental and inevitable, was hastened by the war. During the war, construction was practically stopped in American cities and the demand for houses naturally was intensified. This gave the rents another boost. Then followed the post-war building boom in which an effort was made to catch up. Everybody wanted to build at once and the inevitable result of this was increased cost of building material and of the skilled labor of building artisans.

With these costs so great, it was necessary to charge high rents for the buildings constructed during this period, to get a fair return on money invested. If, in 1913, it cost $3,000 to build a certain type of house, that house could rent for about $50 a month and pay a fair return on the money. In 1923 the identical house might cost $7,500. The rent would have to be in the neighborhood of $75 a month.

In the days of the Roman supremacy, the same problems had to be faced. Ground rent became so expensive that buildings were built into the air so many stories that the emperor decreed a height limit in the interests of safety. That was before the invention of the elevator. It is related that some of the houses were so tall the occupants sometimes stayed in their quarters for days at a time to avoid the long journey up and down the stairs.

While the inventions of fabricated steel and the elevator have simplified the problem of the height of buildings, they have not solved the high rent problem. The big factor which is assisting in the solution, and is changing the character of American cities, is the change from a compact region where residences and business properties are mingled. Business activity, of course, necessarily remains concentrated in the center, but the people themselves are becoming dwellers of the suburbs. In the suburbs alone car land is found to build houses at a cost low enough to be rented reasonably.

This would not have been possible in Rome or in any country in the world, because the time consumed in traversing the distance between home and place of business would be too great. The automobile solves the problem. The high rents push the people away from the middle of cities; the automobile makes it possible for them to live on the outskirts. If the tendency now noticed continues, as it almost certainly must, American cities of the not distant future will be present, on Sundays and holidays, in an aspect of complete desolation, while the fringes will be teeming with the life of the residents.

The effect which this movement is having on the trade of the cities is being studied by government experts. One of the problems the automobile brings with it is that of parking space. The streets of cities are becoming badly congested because of the thousands of automobiles at the curbstones.

The one-way street, limited parking areas, downtown lots where parking space is rented at high figures and cellars beneath office buildings for the parking of the cars of tenants are expedients.

The most vital one is the abolition of parking completely in the centers of cities. This has a decided effect on trade and business. An extraordinary example of what such a rule does was furnished recently in Washington. Because of the street decorations and the crowds of pedestrians in the national capital for the Shriners' convention, all automobile parking was forbidden within the downtown business district. Automobiles were compelled to leave their cars several blocks away from the downtown area.

The astonishing result was that, on the day this went into effect, bank deposits fell off 50 per cent and retail trade in the downtown stores was about cut in two.

Study of this result shows what effect the growing numbers of automobiles is going to have on the business of cities as well as on the location of the homes of residents. They are going to shove the stores and banks farther and farther from the city center and develop outlying commercial and retail sections, ranged in a wide ring around the middle section of cities. This will follow the parking line of automobile traffic to a general extent. Where the suburban dweller can park his car will be found the location of retail stores, banks and such business houses.

It used to be said of the money that he got out of bed in his bunk house in the morning and mounted his horse and rode across the road to breakfast—20 steps. It seems the modern city-dwelling American now will get in his car to go around the corner, rather than walk, and if he can not park his car in front of the drug store, the bank, the dry goods store or the movie theater, he will drive to some other place where he can.

The American city, therefore, is very much in the grip of the automobile.

But the wet interests as usual have side stepped this proposition and made it impossible to get the referendum before the people. That is a form of cowardice which is not at all unusual in the ranks of the liquor apologists.

Delegations of prisoners are arriving at Leavenworth from Texas. It is worth recording that these penitentiary birds are gentlemen swindlers who sold all stock to greedy people hoping to get rich quick.

Senator Ridgway might have had a chicken dinner also.

Sensor Ridgway might add a few interesting things to the gaily of nations by telling some more of the politics lightning which has surcharged the atmosphere in the neighborhood of the bright light on the Capitol dome.

The German mark has reached a point of depreciation where it is not even a trace, let alone a mark.

William Jennings Bryan is angry because people laugh at his attitude on many topics. If Mr. Bryan does not want to be laughed at, he should not do and say funny things.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

UNSEEN TOIL.
I cannot hear them at their toll
Or see them when I know
The roses drop from the tree
And working, row on row,
And making now the sweet perfume
To throw upon each lovely bloom.

Some notes are seeking colors, too,
The sort they fancy best,
And General Jack shall burst anew
In deepest scarlet dressed.
How strange that none has ever found
This busy peat shop in the ground!

Yet underneath the garden bed,
Where shines the gentle sun,
With neither pattern, needle, thread,
What wondrous robes are spun
Out of that factory 'neath the ground
Shall come the rose superbly gowned.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

THE REASON.
Americans are living longer.
Experts have been at work
And have found that the Average of life is fifty years.
Back in the middle
The average was but thirty-nine years.
New York State health officer
Says average city man
Expect to reach half-century,
Many chance are assigned
For this longer span.
But we have an idea that
The real reason of it is
That more people everywhere
Are riding in automobiles.
And therefore fewer people
Are trying to dodge them.

France has 5,000 new aircraft ready for war.
All she has to do now is to look around and find some country that wants to fight them.

New Jersey doctors are now prescribing radio receiving sets in case of illness. Their idea is to inoculate patients with radio programs and make them forget as far as possible their troubles.

Followed out to the ultimate this plan offers some surprising possibilities which may be enumerated briefly.

For a nervous patient, for instance, one suffering a nervous breakdown, how soothing would be two or three hours of jazz played by some Broadway orchestra, including washbells, skiffls, locomotive whistles and cowbells. Can't you see that patient getting out of his hospital cot and walking home a well man?

A patient laid up at home with gout, one foot bandaged and red as a fire, would appreciate that celebrated radio lecture, "How I Climbed to the Top of Mount McKinley," by Professor Philander Dutton, of Shookum College.

A man suffering with dyspepsia would be made immediately well by the well-known program lecture on "Hog Culture in Kansas and Glimpses into the Chicago Stockyards."

An insomniac patient listening in would immediately call for his clothes, go home in a taxi cab and go to bed and sleep if he heard
"Three O'Clock in the Morning."

A speech by Senator Borah during the evening would half empty any hospital, all the men jumping out of bed, saluting the nurses and looking for a gun and a khaki suit to go forth to battle.

People suffering from mild forms of insanity would listen to two or three bedtime stories, and being able to understand them, would demand their release.

There is probably a good deal to the new theory, and if the patients stand the first two or three tests nothing can kill them.

Attorney-General Daugherty again denies the story that he will resign. If he keeps that up much longer we will begin to believe it.

Who's Who Today

HENRY FAIRFIELD OSBORN.

Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the Museum of Natural History, New York City, has just been awarded one of the three gold medals of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, presented for distinguished service to American people. Prof. Osborn has played a leading role in the development for thirty years. Under his presidency, the Museum has achieved an extraordinary expansion in many directions, covering such diverse departments of natural history as mineralogy, zoology and anthropology; and has become not only the greatest institution of its kind in the United States, but one of the greatest in the world.

Prof. Osborn was professor of comparative anatomy at Columbia and dean of the faculty of pure sciences at Columbia. He has been president of the board of trustees of the American Museum of Natural History since 1910.

Prof. Osborn has greatly stimulated minute laboratory investigations and daring field work in remote portions of the globe. He is a member of scientific societies all over the world. His publications include "On the Greeks to Darwin," "Evolution of Mammals," "Huxley and Education," "Men of the Old Stone Age," "Origin and Evolution of Life," and over 400 scientific and educational papers.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

June 22, 1883.—Early this afternoon a family of Indians passed through the city in a large wagon drawn by a span of fine mules. They were from southern Kansas, had been destined for Indiana. The old Indian said he left Indiana four years ago for Kansas, but was disgusted with that country. He did not account for being so far out of his way.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

June 25, 1893.—Committee on county finance met this afternoon and decided to float a bond issue of $120,000. The city engineer, J. H. Smith, has been placed in the municipal court room, connecting it with central. Why not go one step further and make that police headquarters as there are now none?

TWENTY YEARS AGO

June 22, 1903.—James Lamb was installed elder of the Presbyterian church at services Sunday. He succeeds the late James Mount. The new house is being painted a vivid orange. Chief Klein has appointed Con. J. M. Phipps second assistant chief engineer of the fire department, a position that has been sought by several.

TEN YEARS AGO

June 22, 1913.—Annual senior dancing party will be held tonight in Assembly hall. More than 200 couples are expected to attend. A crowd larger than has ever been at the fair grounds since the mile track was built is expected for Wednesday. When the 100-mile auto race will be run. Flots are beginning to arrive now for training.

TRIED AND PROVED.

As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; he is a buckler to all them that trust in him.—2 Sam. 22:31.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

SYMPTOMS DUE TO EYE STRAIN

Practically all of us have experienced some irregularities in the shape of the eyeball. Rarely is an eye perfectly spherical. Not only a few of us suffer from our defects of vision, just as with loose kidney and pined or sagging stomach. One who knows another whose vision is anchored or jumping around—unless one happens to have a lowered resistance. Lowered resistance is merely quibbling, we must admit; we haven't the slightest idea why Smith's resistance is lower than Jones'. We just know that Smith doesn't endure little troubles as well as Jones'.

A physician, after a long redness and irritation of the eyes and lids after reading for any length of time. His vision would blur when his eyes were used for close work. He selected the momentary optician, who found that the man's eyes were far from normal. Glasses were fitted. No better. Glasses were changed. Still no better. Gentleman decided to consult a specialist. A specialist referred him to a nose doctor. Nose doctor drilled a little hole in one of the nasal sinuses, evacuated some matter, and immediately the gentleman's vision cleared. He was troubled him and his eyes regained their natural appearance.

Eye strain is no child's play. It takes a mighty good oculist to determine which sinuses are really due to defects of vision.

Headache is a symptom of a great many different troubles. A few cases unquestionably depend upon eye strain and are relieved or cured by glasses.

A tendency to squint or narrow the eyes, to grimace or twist the face unconsciously when using the eyes, a sense of fatigue and soreness (not headache or pain) in and about the eyes after prolonged use, reddening of eyes and eyelids without apparent cause, sometimes dizziness, and other disturbances, are more likely to indicate eye strain.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Buttermilk.
As I cannot drink milk—the effect being biliousness and indigestion—can I use buttermilk? Buttermilk is milk that has the full food properties of fresh or sweet milk (Milk, B. J. S.). It is a good food and does not have the nutritive or nourishing value of sweet milk. Otherwise, it has all the food properties of milk. I think, S. G. E. High.

You told a correspondent that you did not know what he meant by "ade-noids." A medical dictionary informs me that it is a term popularly used for coryza and catarrhal conditions of the nose and throat. When a boy speaks of having taken a cold, there is no doubt in the minds of most of us that he means adenoids. Why do you delight in trying to trip them? (S. J. J.)

Answer.—If the medical dictionary definition were a definition it would be fine, but don't you see it merely tends to explain the meaning of the word. If most physicians really understood what a "layman" means when he speaks of having ade-noids, they would not have to define them.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Mary Burrows, with a giant Swede girl, Thora, lives on the plateau on top of Ghost Mountain. In Arizona, Peter Sheridan, New York lawyer with tuberculosis, has bought a ranch at Chico, Alaska, and is recovering his health. His inseparable companion is Red Jackson, foreman of the place. They rescue a Chinaman, Quong, from the clutches of Thollister, a cattle rustler. Peter finds a way to the ranch on top of the mountain and tells the story of the bad man who tried to annoy the women. Red falls in love with Thora. Thollister, swarthy, revengeful, kidnaps Mary and takes her to the mountains. On the way he drinks poison meat and goes blind. Thollister is killed. Mary alone, ragged and lost, is found by Peter. He rescues her from the hands of the blind rider after her. Tales of marvelous gold in the canyon are told. Quong, who was once the keeper of a gambling house in San Francisco, reveals the location of the caves and the gold there ready to be taken out. Sheridan and others form an expedition to go in search of the treasure.

"Chinese?" As Sheridan spoke he glanced down the passage towards the entrance. Main in the light that shone on the panel, a head and neck was thrust peering into the cave. It vanished as Sheridan flung a bullet humming for the mark. For a split-second it had moved clear to all of them a flattened nose, high cheekbones, cruel mouth. The glitter of slanting eyes, the face of a Chinaman of the lower type, practical, murderous. A hatchet-man a Teng-killer!

"I suppose I give the whole show away, bolita in here like a rabbit," said the wounded rider, having his wounded arm for Sheridan's inspection. "But I figured I'd warn you. Did you get one of 'em, Red?" "Based on a windshield, fur as I know, my that's all," answered Sheridan. "You're bored plumb through your arm. Nothin' busted, is they Sheridan?" "Left heel all right," Sheridan spoke confidently. "The wound ought to be bathed before bandaging and they had not a drop of water. The suggestion that it was going to be a long while before Bill could get proper attention was beginning to depress itself upon him. "Did you say two machines?" he asked. "Two big ones, filled up. A dozen or more in 'em. They sure got us hurried."

Sheridan nodded in grim silence. They were in little better case than had been the bandits in the inner cave. In place of the landslide, the exit was blocked by murderous Chinamen. These were the enemies of Quong, whom he thought he had shaken off in San Francisco. They had come in relentless squads. "I hear preachers in the City of Silence was doubly ominous. And there was no food, no water. He turned to Quong, who stood with his arms folded. His face was still placid, but his eyes now gleamed in the flare of the torch like black opals.

"I made a mistake," he said. "We are all likely to do so. I let Juan Mendoza believe in San Francisco. I was forced to. Some one has given him opium, has taken my place as his god. And he has babbled his secret to them in gratitude. He had lost his soul, he was only a shell and he would grow for the drug after a day without it. I should have yanked him out after he got his secret. He would have been better dead. Now he has jeopardized the lives of six of us. I fancy he is dead by now. Hwa! Hwa! would see to that."

"Now they have scented the gold. I told you I had enemies." The score was not always on their side.

OVERWORKED MOTHERS

We all know them. Mothers who in their anxiety to keep their homes neat and attractive, and their little ones as well dressed as their playmates, toil on day in and day out, sweat, distress, headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, all symptoms of overwork. Thousands of these mothers have found relief from such suffering by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as is evidenced by the letters of recommendation on our bottles. For more information, send for our free booklet, "How to Keep Your Child Healthy and Happy." This booklet contains a list of the best medicines for children, and a list of the best medicines for women.

Widower Congratulated

"Since my wife's death, five years ago, I have suffered greatly from stomach and liver troubles, and gas attacks. I lost over 50 lbs. and, at times was as yellow as saffron. My doctors could not help me. Six doses of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cured me. I regained my weight and every one is congratulating me how well I look." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and relieves the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose gives you a new feeling of freedom. People's Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.

Relieve scalp irritations with Resinol

Eczema and dandruff are among the most frequent causes of baldness and too much care cannot be exercised in getting rid of them. The Resinol treatment is an easy method.

Shampoo with Resinol Soap, working the lather well into the roots of the hair. Rinse thoroughly and when the hair is dry, spread the hair apart and gently rub into the scalp a little Resinol Ointment. If done carefully little ointment will get on the hair. Ask your druggist for Resinol.

MEAT HINT
Breakfast

Potato Soup. Cressons.

Dinner.
Salmon en Casserole.
Baked Potatoes. Creamed Carrots.
Broad Custard with Nuts and Raisins.
Whole Wheat Bread. Tea.

TODAY'S RECIPES
Salmon en Casserole—One can of salmon, one cup cooked peas, two tablespoons fat, four tablespoons flour, two cups milk (scant), one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons of chopped green peppers, one-half lemon, one-half cup crumbs. Bake the fish, melt the butter, add the flour, salt, pepper and milk, and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Add the fish, green pepper and cheese, and pour into a casserole. Bake for 30 minutes. Sprinkle the top with crumbs and bake until brown.

Spinach Salad—Take one pound of spinach, wash thoroughly, cook in salt water until done, then drain and chop fine. Place on chilled lettuce leaf, slice hard boiled egg on top. Serve with lemon juice.

Peach Rice Sundae—Place half peach, half side up, in center of dinner dish, surrounding it with boiled rice. Pour peach juice over rice, fill center of peach with whipped cream, and sprinkle nuts over all. This is delicious.

How to Put Cross-Stitch Design on Plain Goods—Take a piece of old fashioned perforated paper. If you have it, or the canvas used to work over, or checked paper of lining—either will do—lay on the material where you wish to design and fasten with thumbtacks. If using the cardboard or canvas, insert a sharp pointed lead pencil and make a dot through each hole where you would put the needle when working. If the checked paper or canvas is used, place carbon paper between this and the goods, glossy side down, and make a cross in each space same size as the hole in the paper. This produces a better finished design than most of those you get at art needlework shops. Different colors can be prepared for by marking a tiny symbol at the center of each cross—say a dot for red, a little horizontal line for blue, and upright one for brown, and so on; these symbols should be made small enough to be covered by the work.

Reading Glass for Copying Small Patterns—If you have a design in flat crochet, or a block pattern which is too small to be easily taken off, try this plan: Cut a half circle of paper which will fit the lower half of a round sized reading glass, paste it in place and lay the glass over your pattern so that the straight edge of the paper marks the row on which you are working. Move the glass for the next row. The face is thus magnified and in magnified view. Often we find in magazines very pretty patterns which have no directions and this plan has solved quite a problem. Another plan is to read off the pattern by a set of glass and have some body take it down on checked paper. In the line of spaces at left of the paper write the number of rows; across the top write in one space "R" and in the next "S" or "C" if there are bars and loaves, write "B" or "H" across two spaces. Of course it takes the time of two persons to do this, but it is very quickly accomplished and saves more than the extra time in the end.

Dinner Stories
"Ah, little man," exclaimed the kindly old man. "Going to school, eh? And it's the opening day, isn't it? Give all I possess if I were going to school again."

"Huh," replied the tough youngster. "That's what pa said when I left the house this mornin', but he backed out when I cut into his bluff." Birmingham Age-Herald.

Returning from Washington, the lame duck wandered around town for several days, says the Pittsburgh Chronicle. Meeting him in front of the postoffice, an old friend, slapped him on the back and said: "Well, I did my share. John, I voted for you."

The lame duck thanked him feebly and responded: "I'm at a loss to understand how I failed at election."

"Why so?"

"I can't find anybody who didn't vote for me."

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman 22 years of age. I married a man four years my senior. As every one thought I had made a splendid match. It seems as though my husband thinks only of his own pleasures and not mine.

When he is at home in the evening he is constantly reading until a late hour at night. He also reads all Sunday. It is quite displeasing to me as there is no one I can talk with and I am in a strange town where I know very few people.

We have a one-year-old baby who seems all the world to each of us, but still we are quarreling about trifles constantly, which makes it very unhappy for me. I have my baby to rear and I feel if we continue the life we are leading her future will also be unhappy.

When we are pleasant with each other we are perfectly happy and devoted until something arises and we begin to quarrel again. Even when we are pleasant with each other my husband refuses to take me out and says I should go with the baby. My husband is my companion and I feel that I should go with him. I feel that I should go with him. I feel that I should go with him.

We are of different beliefs in religion. He refuses my religion and I his. I love my husband dearly. Please advise me what to do.

It is most unfortunate that you and your husband do not have the same interests, but since he will not join you in what you want to do, I would certainly advise you to interest yourself in the things he likes. Perhaps he would read aloud so that you could spend your evenings together, sharing the same pleasure. Probably your husband would not choose reading matter strictly to your taste, but after listening a while I believe you would cultivate an interest in the things he enjoys. Even if he objects to reading aloud, you could read the books and magazines which appealed to you, or you could sit quietly by and sew or write letters. Companionship can be quiet and entirely without conversation. Try to be self-sufficient unto yourself so that your husband can have quiet for his reading. The more you talk to him at such times, the more he will become irritated. I am almost certain that when your husband sees you are trying to do what he wants to do, he will turn try harder to have you. As your interests grow closer he will find he wants to discuss things with you.

Since it takes two to make a quarrel, close your lips tightly when in irritating matters arise and your husband will find it impossible to quarrel with you. Nagging is a terrible thing and should be avoided by both of you. Since your husband spends so much time quietly reading, perhaps he feels that you nag him when you want to talk and so places. Of course, he is quite wrong and selfish and very much to blame because he is starving you for want of companionship.

At present you are going through the maddest part of your life. When your little girl is older she will mean more to you and you will not suffer so much from loneliness. For her sake stop quarreling so that she will grow up in a home of harmony. Very truly yours, M. M. W.—For blackheads, cleanse the skin every night with hot water and a mild soap or a cleansing cream, after which also a fine cream to soften the balance of the skin in the pores. Remove the surplus and close the pores by flushing cold water over the face.

Use this cream for cleansing; use it after exposure to the sun. It's as good as any other cream as a first aid against burning. Use it before going out with a liberal coating of powder. If your skin isn't too oily, it will prevent tanning. Use it on shoulders and arms and especially on elbows which will grow slimy and ugly in the summer time. And if you want it cool and bleaching, use one, and a half ounces of this cucumber juice instead of rose water.

Heavy creams fill up the pores too much, which is their great fault in the hot weather. This cleansing cream is light, it rubs in easily, takes out the dust as you want it to do, and grows up easily. Complexions are usually oily enough in the hot days and need nothing of that nature added entirely. Use cream in the summer. It's useful mostly as a guard against tanning and after exposure to dust.

CLEANSING CREAMS

Don't over use cold creams at any time, but in the hot weather be particularly careful about them. Heavy creams will make the skin too oily. In the summer they are apt to irritate it. In fact, unless you are treating deep wrinkles and sores, avoid cold cream and cleansing cream for hot weather use.

The formula is as follows:
White wax ..... 1 ounce
Syrupacetyl ..... 1 ounce
White mineral oil ..... 5 ounces
Rose water ..... 1 1/2 ounces
Borax ..... 30 grains
Oil of bitter almonds ..... 15 drops

I make that last bitter almonds because I love its pungency, but any perfumed oil to the same amount will do.

Use this cream for cleansing; use it after exposure to the sun. It's as good as any other cream as a first aid against burning. Use it before going out with a liberal coating of powder. ## 3,000 ATTEND OLD SETTLERS' EVENT

Palmyra Homecoming Notable Reunion; 11-acre Tract Is Presented.

(By Staff Correspondent.)
Palmyra—The 1923 Old Settlers' day and homecoming staged annually by the Wisconsin Old Settlers' association, passed with midnight Thursday, but not until 3,000 persons from Wisconsin had gathered once more in the community in which they formerly lived and enjoyed again the company of former neighbors.

The address of the day, by Congressman Henry Allen Cooper, stressed the marvelous development in this community in its short existence.

"These years have seen the most wonderful inventions," said Mr. Cooper. "Time and distance have been annihilated and were George Washington here today he could carry on conversation with you, for there are too many words he never heard. He never heard of the telephone, the automobile, the phonograph or went to a movie."

"It makes no difference where your ancestry was traced, here is your home, here will be your burial place and that of your children and their children. There is no other ground so dear, no other ground so hallowed as where lie the ashes of our loved ones. As Americans let us all rise to the full height of American ideals."

He urged the young men to keep up the Wisconsin Old Settlers' association as a noble monument to the memory of its founders.

The presentation to the village of Palmyra of the 11-acre tract of land bought by the Wisconsin Old Settlers' association, made by President Norris, will assure a place for the continuance of the picnic. The Rev. Loren Knutsen on behalf of the village board, accepted the deed and pledged the people of Palmyra to make it a real park "for the betterment of the community, enjoyment of everyone and the uplift of God."

Seated on the platform were many of the oldest settlers. "Farmer" Tom Lee, of Sullivan, 91, was the oldest and another young old man was the Rev. Samuel Luge, of Whitewater, who, decades ago, preached in the Palmyra Methodist church.

The attention of the crowds was turned during the afternoon to the performances on the diamond. Races and contests were held for boys and girls. During the afternoon and evening, music was furnished by the Whitewater band, directed by the Rev. Allen Adams, and the Palmyra high school band. The latter made a good showing for young players and a fine appearance in white uniforms. The Whitewater band won the prize for the best band at the Jefferson farmers' tournament last week.

A dance during the evening at Scherer's hall was enjoyed by scores, music being furnished by Vogel's orchestra. Signs of welcome were hung about the town and Palmyra proved a splendid entertainer. The memory of Otto Scherer and Charles Calkins were honored this year.

Traffic Bureau Service Resumed

The traffic bureau of the Chamber of Commerce has been taken over by the Mather-Cogswell corporation, Milwaukee, and will hereafter be operated by that concern on an agreement with the Chamber. J. W. Lockwood, who resigned to enter similar work in Milwaukee.

PETITION FILED FOR KRAUSE ESTATE

Application for administration of the estate of Louis C. Krause, Beloit, was made Wednesday to Judge Charles L. Fifield in county court. The petitioner is Frank C. Krause, son of the deceased. Krause's assets include personal property valued at $2,000 and real estate worth $9,000. His heirs consist of four sons and three daughters.

WORLD COURT BUT NOT THE LEAGUE FOR PRESIDENT HARDING

in itself, of a people capable of laying aside their arms, grappling a reconstruction problem, and digging down to hard work to effect the needed restoration, rather than to fling aside all we had brought in a century of hopeful progress, and thereby subscribe to destruction in the name of social democracy. We gave business a chance to resume, and assured it that honest success is no crime in the United States.

"Measures were adopted to lighten the taxation load and distribute the burdens of war. We inaugurated the budget system or government financing, and thereby effected reductions in government outlay amounting to billions.

Deficit Made Into Surplus.
"The fiscal year just past its close, threatened an $800,000,000 deficit when the financial budget was in the making, but we cut and trimmed and insisted upon reduced expenditures, and it will close with a $200,000,000 surplus. It is too early now to safely appraise the competition of the world restored, but the world must take cognizance of the new order as well as we. War wrought an emancipation of men and changed conditions of production which the old world must recognize before a stable order is restored to it. Our recovery is based on a prompt recognition of the new order, and I am sure we will carry on.

"The endless problems of foreign relations are relatively little revealed to the world. Most frequently they are more rapidly adjusted, because they are not revealed, though it is fair to assure you that nothing of vital importance is truly hidden from the people for whom the government works. Week by week, day by day, often hour by hour, there are problems in our international relations that are no more to be avoided than the vital questions of our own relationships at home.

"The citizen who believes in aloofness is blind to inescapable obligations and insensitive to the twentieth century world order and unimpaired of our commercial interdependence about which the modern business fabric has come to be woven.

"In his never to be forgotten farewell address, in which the first president compressed the gospel of our mutual interests at home and our proper relations abroad, he said: 'Toward all nations, Cultivate peace and harmony with all. Religion and morality are indispensable to the good of the world. It is that good that we are doing is to be that good to the world. And can we do that? This experiment, at which I am so proud to have participated, I think which enables him to do it. It is rendered impossible by its very nature.'"

"This solemn admonition was addressed by George Washington to his fellow countrymen 127 years ago. It is as good today as it was then. We are proud to assume the world before us. That we have, indeed, observed the moral interdependence about which the modern business fabric has come to be woven, surely none can deny with truth.

Urges Court Joining

"Thus, clearly, by the method already mentioned, by substituting reason for prejudice, law for emotion, and justice for passion, the father of his country made us, no less than his contemporaries, not merely to endure and uphold, but actively to cultivate and promote peace.

"It is with that high purpose in mind that at heart men and women of America have courageously participated in the United States in the permanent court of international justice. Tax conditions may be considered as indispensable.

"First, that the tribunal be so constituted as to appear and to be in theory and in practice, in form and in substance, beyond the shadow of a doubt a world court and not league. "Second, that the United States shall occupy a place of perfect equality with every other power."

court protocol, with becoming reservation, and be free from every possible obligation to the league. I would prefer the court's complete independence of the league.

"Just as frankly let me say that I have not held it seemly, in view of the repeated declaration favorable to the world court establishment, to say to the nations which have established very much what we have wished that they must put aside their very commendable creation because we do not subscribe to its every detail, or fashion it all new and to our liking, in every specific detail, before we offer our assistance or improved international relationship.

Not Out for Victory

"Government can never successfully undertake the solution of a great problem unless it can frankly submit it to the people. It is for these reasons that I confess these objections. I recognize the constitutional restriction of separate ratification, and I believe that the tide of public sentiment will be reflected in the senate. I am so eager for the ultimate accomplishment that I am interested in harmonizing opposing elements, more anxious to effect our help; commitment to the court, than I am to score a victory for existing instance. Let us, therefore, appraise some of the determining factors which must be considered in hopefully mapping our course.

"Nearly three years ago, by an overwhelming majority, the people rejected the proposal of the administration then in power to incorporate the United States in the league of nations. I did not know what they were doing is to insult their intelligence, and to make a mockery of the democratic principle. I am sure that the people have influenced their judgment were purely incidental. The plank upon which, bodily, defiantly advanced in unmistakable terms by the democratic party and espoused by the democratic candidate for president was indorsement of the demand of the then democratic president.

"I dislike to use our party names in dealing with a problem which has now passed far beyond party association, but I want to state what I consider utterly dissociated with any intention of entrance into the league, is the history to paint the background. Moreover, I am so earnest in my desire to have the United States give for endurance, and I would gladly wipe out factional difference to effect the great accomplishment."

ments of good in both the league and the fundamental difference between a court of international justice, which I have expounded, and the council set up by the league covenant, which I disparaged. I would take and combine all that is good and excise all that is bad from both organizations.

Utility Is Proven.
"That is exactly what I am now proposing to do. The abstract principle of a world court found its genesis in The Hague tribunal. The concrete application of that principle has been made by the league. Sound theory joined successfully. The court itself is not only firmly established, but has clearly demonstrated its utility and efficiency.

"It is a true judicial tribunal. Its composition is of the highest order. None better, none freer from selfish, partisan, national, or racial prejudices or influences could be obtained. That, to the best of my information and belief, is a fact universally admitted and acclaimed. I care not whence the court came. I insist only that its integrity, its independence, its complete and continuing freedom be safeguarded absolutely.

"The sole question is whether the requirements which I have enumerated as essential to adherence by the United States can be met. My answer is that where there is a unanimous will, a way can always be found. I am wedded irrevocably to any particular method. I would not assure for a moment that the readjustment of the existing arrangement which appears to my mind as feasible in the best, much less the only one. But, such as it is, I submit it, without excess details, as a basis for consideration, discussion and judgment.

"The exclusive privilege now held by the league to seek advisory legal guidance from the court might either be abolished, or, more wisely perhaps, be extended to any member or group of member nations.

"There still is the voice of the doubter: This is all very well, but it can not be done. The 46 nations which have signed the protocol will refuse to make changes. They have formulated their plans, have arranged their machinery, have established a going concern; they are not only themselves content, but they can see no reason why the few remaining powers should not be equally satisfied with the result of their endeavors. They will resist the mere suggestion of such proposals by the United States, as an attempt at dictation."

Act of Discourtesy.
"It would be an act of discourtesy, if not indeed of unfriendliness, on the part of the American government to approach them along these lines. They will spurn the offer. They will not brook interference from an outsider. They will not consent to upset, or modify their fait accompli. The whole project will fall to the ground."

"To which I reply: Primarily, at this time, it is to satisfy the earnest wish of our sister states that we are striving to find a way to join and strengthen the one body created by them which bears promise of eliminating the need of war to regulate international relations. So far from being unfriendly, it springs from a sincere desire, through frank and intimate association, to help to restore stability, and, in the words of Washington, to 'cultivate peace' throughout the world."

"The making of the world court is precisely what its name implies, and for which we have so earnestly spoken.

Text Europe's Stand.
"Can it be possible that, despite their protestations to the contrary, this is not what some of our sister states at heart desire? Must there be a test of sincerity abroad as well as at home? Then the more quickly it can be made, the better for them and the better for us. There is nothing to be accomplished in ambiguity. We want to know, and the only way to find out is to inquire."

"Very recently a striking message was flashed through the air from Paris to Washington. Wall America, said the vigorous prime minister, that I like her, like her because she is strong, simple and direct. I wish fully to be the same and shall try to make her so."

God speed him. And grant that America shall never forfeit the high honor borne by that tribute from Roosevelt.

"I do not advocate compromise. I merely reiterate and stand squarely for every pledge I have made. I still reject as unwise, untraditional and un-American any foreign political alliance or entanglement. I still favor with all my heart association of free nations animated by considerations of right and justice, instead of might and self-interest, so organized and so participated in or so guided by the actual attainment of peace a reasonable possibility."

"I strongly urge adherence to the permanent court of international justice as the one and only existing agency of peace to which we can safely subscribe without violating the basic principles of our national being."

The Horsepower That Is Always Escaping

THE automobile is so far from perfect that always — every mile — you are losing seven times as much fuel energy as you are using.

Friction, wind-pressure, heat-loss, slippage—all these and a dozen more burdens are constantly dragging at your power until all you have left for actual travel is twelve-and-a-half-percent—a bare one-eighth of the power-units you have paid for. Any motor expert or designer will verify those figures.

With such a handicap, you can't afford to cut still further into the final margin by using a low-grade, kerosene-laden motor fuel that admittedly is of low efficiency to start with.

Wadham's
True Gasoline

— and nothing short of it can insure to that significant, usable eighth the full amount that you can get from your car — whether you measure it in motor condition, miles traveled, comfort in starting and driving, or in actual money paid for gasoline.

True Gasoline is just what its name declares—genuine, old-fashioned, straight-run, real gasoline—unclogged by carbon, unsullied by kerosene—the biggest value for your gasoline investment.

MELONS, CHERRIES, PLACED ON MARKET

Plums and Berries Also Seen, Making Variety from Which to Choose.

It seems a favor of nature that just in the warm weather when a person craves fruits and vegetables, all varieties of them are provided. Grocery stores this week are filled with fruits of all descriptions and from all parts of the country. Demand is so great that stores cannot keep enough on hand—one Janesville store received a big shipment of strawberries Friday morning, and they were all sold before nine o'clock.

In the last week, many new things have made their 1923 premiere here. For instance, there is delicious watermelon, 60 and 70 cents each, cheaper than it has opened the season at for many years. Some stores are showing in their windows, boxes of good-looking gooseberries.

Plum Season Starts
The plum season has really started. Home-grown cherries are selling for 15 cents per quart, a moderate price. California variety, the large, almost black ones, have come down in price and are obtainable for 25 and 40 cents per pound. Plums are 12 cents; apricots, 15 cents per dozen.

With all this variety, the lowly strawberry is not forgotten. Prices are slightly higher, as some grocers predicted the first of the week, when the low mark of the season was reached. The home-grown kind now brings 17 cents per quart. Hot weather is hurrying up the season, and two weeks more will probably be the last. Prices will go higher, if anything. Pineapples are practically done for, after a long and healthy season. Some stores are still displaying them; and they are good now, being unusually ripe and sweet, but in another week, they will be almost impossible to obtain. Apples are in the same condition, and there will be inactivity in this market until the fall crop.

Two cantaloupes for 15 cents makes a moderate price for the early season. Good quality is also evident. Bananas, in great demand now, along with other fruits, especially for plums, have gone down one cent per pound, and some stores now make a bargain price of 11 cents per pound. Lemons continue their usual hot-weather advance, although retail price has not been much affected. Forty cents per dozen is asked. Oranges bring all the way from 25-47 cents, and grapefruit, in practically ended.

Vegetables now seen, and prices asked are: Rhubarb, home-grown, 5 cents per pound; leaf lettuce, 10 cents; large bunch; head lettuce, practically out of season; radishes, 5 cents bunch; peas, 13 cents pound; beans, 15 cents; new cabbage, 6 cents pound; asparagus, 15 cents bunch; cucumbers, 15 cents each; spinach, a shilling a pound; and peppers, 8 cents each.

Eggs are 24 cents per dozen and butter 41 cents per pound, practically the same as last week.

LITTLE CHANGE IN ROAD CONDITIONS

Milwaukee — Detours and road construction jobs on Wisconsin highways have remained practically unchanged the last week, according to the weekly highway report of The Milwaukee Journal's tour department. Highway 29, between Hartford and Singer, has been completed. The new 29 runs east of Singer, cutting off about two miles.

Highway 19 to Madison still has three detours. The two detours around Watertown are in poor condition. Highway 41 is closed from the intersection of county trunk 23 in Waukesha county to Jefferson, the detour taking one over county trunk B. B. is just a dirt road and poor after rains.

A good combination to Madison is: 41 to Waukesha, 59 to Eagle, 99 to Palmyra, 90 to the intersection of C. C. to Ft. Atkinson and 15 to Madison.

Highway 35 is open to Lake Geneva. Highway 17 north to Manitowish has three detours. Tourists who desire to use this route are advised to follow 57 out of Milwaukee to Graton, then follow detour 57 to 17.

The best route to St. Paul is still 15-47-15-11-12.

To Janesville, 61-20, and for Beloit, 61.

To the Dells, either 19 with its detour to Watertown, then 107-29-38-12 or the above route to Madison, and 12 to the Dells, is suggested.

To Rhinelander and Minocqua, 15

47-16-D-47-39 are suggested and to Eagle River and Three Lakes 15-47-16-D-47-39-A-14-32.

SCHOOL BOARD MAY MEET NEXT WEEK

No special meeting of the board of education will be held this week, as Mrs. Helen Sutherland, president, is out of the city. It is thought that there may be one early next week, as H. J. Van Ryn, Milwaukee architect, was in the city Wednesday and will soon have his complete report ready on the arbitration matter, recently settled.

PRACTICAL HARDWARE

South River Street

WALWORTH COUNTY

ELKHORN

MRS. GRANT HARRINGTON, County Seat News.

Elkhorn.—The Delavan boys, Glenn and Harry, aged 12 and 9, were taken to the Sparta school Friday.

Elkhorn Masons will be guests of the East Troy Masons Monday night and will participate in the evening's program.

The Kiwanis district picnic will be held at "The Antlers," Brown's lake, July 18. Milwaukee, Kaukauna, Kaukauna, and Elkhorn clubs will unite for the day. The Elkhorn Elkhorn band will accompany the local club, and an extensive program of sports and entertainment is being arranged. These picnics are big events on the calendar of the Milwaukee club and this year the members have invited their neighbors to join with them.

Mrs. P. M. Porter is entertaining a number of ladies at 3 p. m. Saturday, five hundred being played. Mrs. Mary E. Rockwell is guests of honor. Light refreshments will be served. The opening of the concert season by the Elkhorn band Wednesday night attracted the largest crowd that ever attended an opening. The program was a popular one, and varied, with selections to please all. The Kiwanis club has assumed management of 12 park concerts, and thus the citizens are assured of satisfactory arrangements. It was sure enough "music night" in Elkhorn. The vocal pupils of Lillian M. Way, Milwaukee, gave a recital at the Congregational church, which was attended by a good sized audience. The voice development of the younger singers, the Misses Helen Reed, Alice Morrison, Elizabeth Anos and Margaret McDonald, was indeed remarkable. The entire program was pleasing. Each recital grows in interest.

Miss Elsie Holcomb of the Rockford schools will arrive home Friday for the summer vacation.

Mrs. Davis Lyle, Cleveland, and sister, Miss Isabel Mattison, Lake Geneva, old friends of Mrs. Minnie O'Neil, visited the latter Wednesday and remained for the band concert.

James L. Stokes left Thursday for Dyersburg, Tenn. He will return next Tuesday.

Miss Amelia Kuhnholm left Thursday for Battle Creek, Mich., to visit relatives.

Messrs. and Misses George Potter and Charles Nott attended the old settlers' picnic in Palmyra Thursday.

Frank Slattery and "Spur" Wiswell were among the ball fans who went to Palmyra Thursday.

Mrs. E. A. Lewis, Racine, is visiting her sister, Rachel Gray, and other relatives in the vicinity of Elkhorn.

WHITEWATER

MISS ALICE MARSH, Phone 222-11.

Whitewater.—The marriage of Miss Pearl Shaw, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Shaw to Victor Beeton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Beeton of Elkhorn, was solemnized at the Methodist church, at ten o'clock Thursday morning, the Rev. Allen Adams officiating. Miss Joyce Adams played the Lohengrin wedding march as Miss Shaw came in on the arm of her cousin, Frank L. Gunnison. Miss Zetta Whitnaut was her bridesmaid. Mr. Beeton was attended by his brother, Wesley Beeton. The ceremony was performed by Mr. and Mrs. Beeton received the congratulations of their friends as they left the church. Miss Adams played the Mendelssohn march. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 1008 Janesville street, the following being present: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Beeton, Mr. and Mrs. William Beeton and daughter Margaret; Mr. and Mrs. David McCarty, Delavan, grandparents of the groom; Mrs. Minnie Shaw, Miss Zetta Whitnaut, Wesley Beeton, L. Gunnison, Mrs. Harry Spencer and daughter, Miss Lillian Spencer, Lima Center; Mrs. Ida Boyce, Mrs. Truman Taft and Mrs. George Kuehn. Mr. and Mrs. Beeton have gone to Dubuque, and will make their home on their return in Elkhorn, where Mr. Beeton has purchased a home.

The Alpin club has enjoyed greatly its annual picnic. The new farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Marshall three miles north of the city on R. 1, D. No. 3, was the scene of the 1923 outing, which was made especially enjoyable by the presence of Mrs. Lydia B. Averill, one of the club's most talented members. Each one of the good cooks in the club was called to present, prepared some one thing for the menu, and sandwiches for two, so that the 17 members present enjoyed the picnic dinner, as well as the hospitality of Mrs. Marshall.

Messrs. and Misses Bentley Damm and Chas. Johnson motored to Milwaukee for the day Wednesday.

Miss Helen Brandon is enjoying a two week's visit with Miss Josephine Trautman of Waupun. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Brandon who took their daughter to Waupun Sunday, returned Monday.

Mrs. T. H. Coppins and daughter Miss Isabelle Coppins of Belleville, Ontario will arrive Saturday to visit the John A. Brandon family. Mrs. Coppins is a sister of Mr. Brandon.

Route No. 50, which leads over the hill past Oak Grove cemetery, has been opened for traffic, and motorists are appreciating the convenience.

ous pavement into the city from the city limits on Newcomb street. The plan for paving Milwaukee street full width, with curb and gutter, has been modified to a pavement, 18 feet wide and excavations are under way at the eastern end, so that all traffic into Whitewater on route No. 12, detours at the eastern end of the city, crossing the C. M. & St. J. R. track to reach State street, just north of the track. With arterial highways on Main street from the bridge to the city limits on the west; on Milwaukee street from the "Register" office to Janesville street; and on State street from the bridge eastward to Newcomb street, motorists must observe the following regulation: do not drive onto nor cross these highways without coming to a stop. This precaution is necessitated by the increased traffic passing through the business and residence districts, and will minimize the chance for accidents.

FONTANA

Fontana.—Mr. and Mrs. John Dado and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Dado's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Heitzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lash and son, Lake Geneva, were the guests of Mrs. Lash's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Finley, Sunday.

Green Harry, Beloit college, was the guest of Helen Porter during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rowbotham and son spent Sunday at the James Rowbotham home, Zenda.

Mrs. Zina Van Dresar was in Walworth Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Douglas are visiting at the George Douglas home.

Mrs. L. G. Buckles shopped in Harvard Monday.

Mrs. Dell Crumb and Mary Jean Rossmiller are visiting Milwaukee friends.

A children's day program will be given Sunday. All are welcome.

Mrs. Manley, Harvard, was here Saturday.

Mrs. John Pookrandt shopped in Walworth Monday.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville.—About 1½ inches of rain fell here at noon Wednesday. The shower continued for nearly half an hour. Only a few drops fell at short distance on either side of the village.—Word was received here Thursday that a young child of Mr. and Mrs. Knud Knutrud, Beloit, fell from a swing, striking his head on a cement walk, sustaining serious injuries. Peter Knutrud, the child's grandfather, went to the Line city Thursday.—The Triangles went to Albany Thursday and played ball with the Albany nine. The Triangles were victorious, the score being 6 to 5. The game was part of a field day program.—Waller C. Graw will give an entertainment, consisting of readings and impersonations, in the Lutheran church here Wednesday night, June 27, and at the East church Thursday night, June 28.—Street cleaning was started Thursday. Janesville parties arriving with the necessary apparatus.—The Orfordville band will play in Janesville July 4.

LOCAL "DOPER" IS CAUGHT IN MONROE

After a chase through the downtown streets of Monroe, Frank Foley, 27, Janesville, was arrested in that city Thursday, charged with the theft of drugs and money from the office of Dr. E. E. Crenney. After examination by Green county authorities Foley was committed to the Wisconsin psychiatric hospital at Mendota, where he will be treated for the drug habit.

Makes Dash Up Street

Foley was discovered in the office of Dr. Crenney Thursday noon and claimed to be searching for dope. Before the Monroe man could capture him Foley made a dash for liberty and ran up the square followed by Dr. Crenney. He was captured a few minutes later crouching behind a radiator on the rear porch of the Heer meat market. Twenty-five grains of morphine and $16.50 in money was found on him.

Claiming to have developed the drug habit while a patient in an overseas army hospital suffering from wounds, Foley gave a tragic account of his battle to overcome the evil. While in the hospital Foley was given morphine for medical purposes and since his discharge he said he has developed the habit.

Wounded in France

A tinner by trade, Foley told the Monroe police that he had been working in Janesville until a few months ago supporting his aged mother who died recently. He arrived in Monroe Wednesday and had made several unsuccessful attempts to procure drugs before he was arrested.

Although the Janesville man was once a patient at the Madison hospital he has never been legally committed. By virtue of his assignment, Foley will be held for treatment until the habit is cured.

Hears Complaints from Swimmers

Complaints about having skin eruptions from swimming in various places—Clear lake, Rock river and the high school tanks—are coming to City Health Officer Dr. Fred E. Welch, who says that this is bound to occur every year. Especially in the case of the high school pools, people are ready to lay the blame on the water and not on the condition of the person. It is said by many that added used in purifying the water is so strong that it causes the break-out, or that the water is just naturally not pure and that infection is thus caused.

But high school tanks, Dr. Welch says, have passed all state tests for purity, and are examined frequently. If breaking out does occur, it is because of the physical condition of the swimmer and would likely happen wherever he swam. The heat recently also is a factor.

"Asked if river swimming is safe, Dr. Welch gives the reply he always has given—"It is safe if you keep your head above water."

But this few are willing to do. "It do not mean to say," Dr. Welch says, "that swimming in the river without the head kept constantly out of the water is always unsafe, but it is safe only if that rule is followed."

Jacobs Cancels Policy on School

A $5,000 insurance policy on the new high school obtained through the George A. Jacobs agency has been cancelled at the request of Mr. Jacobs, who, as a member of the city council, seeks to avoid any semblance of being agent for anything sold to the city while holding a municipal office. It was explained that the policy was issued at the school board's request while Mr. Jacobs was out of the city but he ordered it cancelled immediately upon his return. The policy was one of several obtained through local insurance agents.

The High-Grade Gasoline

Has the Punch

It follows through—there is no half-hearted piston stroke; neither is there a slapping piston stroke to rack your engine. Instead, Red Crown imparts a steady, steam-engine-like pressure to the piston that sustains and follows through the length of the stroke. That explains both the smooth flow of rhythmic power and the abundance of sustained pulling power. Red Crown offers to the motorist

The Utmost of Service

It has all the intrinsic merit that science has been able to put into any gasoline.
